NYU Divest - Spelling It Out

The super motivated students of NYU Divest met with the University Senate yesterday. They marked that important step forward with a great visual display of their intention. I've had the pleasure of being involved a bit with these students over the past year. They have a goal, a plan, and are executing it smartly.